Musik: Pria Rock, Gadis Hip Hop

Forget about gamelan, that's old school. Indonesians are shaking their bodies instead of their angklung because 21st Century Jakarta has one of the biggest independent music scenes in Asia. Voted by Time Magazine as the best place for underground music, this video introduces students to two of the biggest players in Indonesia's music scene. Eka Annash is the lead singer of the Brandals, a indie rock band whose groupies are mainly young men with dancing styles that can be best described as violent. The Brandals sing about corruption and poverty on the street, not love and romance. They make most of their income playing at weekend rock festivals held in high schools. Yacko is Indonesia's answer to Missy Elliott. A university teacher by day, and rapper by night- her music oozes girlpower. Yacko normally plays in underground clubs but in this video we see her perform a very different gig for male inmate at Indonesia's notorious Cipinang prison. Does she win the tough crowd over?

Kampung

A kampung has many meanings in Indonesia- village, slum, ghetto or community. Whatever the definition- there's no arguing that the kampung is home to millions of Indonesians across the archipelago. This documentary has a look at life in Jakarta's kampungs, little communities which hide amongst the skyscrapers. Every kampung is different but for people who move from rural areas to live in the capital city, they represent a way to integrate into city life and earn a living. In this film, students will see three different kampungs and meet the inhabitants that call each one home. A major highway runs through Kota Bambu- a kampung that was built in the early 20th century and continues to thrive in the face of a modernizing city. Jati Pulo is a densely populated illegal settlement that faces and causes environmental problems on the banks of the polluted Ciliwung River. And Rawa Belong is like a giant farm in the middle of the city. Flower cultivation and recycling has given the kampung a green image and a sustainable income.

Kota

Come on a journey around Jakarta's old city with 24 year old Television Journalist Drew Ambrose. Known as Kota, this well known area of Indonesia is home to crumbling European architecture, museums, art and culture. However this is no boring school excursion! Along the way we'll get trapped in a dungeon, order fancy drinks at cafes and come face to face with some of the locals. There are stilt walkers, gun toting performers and even penjual selling all sorts of strange delicacies. With a funky alternative music soundtrack, this video will teach students interesting vocabulary and introduce them to Indonesia's capital city beyond the traffic jams and air pollution. A fun video that introduces language students to the colour and wonder of Indonesia

Inspired Dvd series :

This Dvd series is a great way to introduce both Indonesian language and culture. Each film is a personal adventure, narrated in Indonesian by the characters. The Dvd includes subtitles in English or Indonesian. While the Dvds are based on the reader series they have their own script and are not graded. They can be used for all class levels by choosing the appropriate subtitles. Every Dvd includes a Cd with teacher's notes on how to use the printable Worksheets, Puzzles, Scripts, Listening exercises and Writing tasks. Also includes high resolution photos that teachers can print and display.

Saya Anak Timor a story from West Timor $99.00

Saya Anak Timor is a fascinating journey into the heart of some of Indonesia's most remote reigns of West Timor. Follow the story of Lui Bani, a young boy who lives in a village near Kupang as he lives life with his family and friends. Lui is also an accomplished traditional dancer and has a chance to perform for a traditional wedding.

This DVD contains 3 options for using subtitles. It is recommended to show the English-subtitled version first, then as a follow-up show it again with Indonesian subtitles. Repetition will help student's confidence grow. Included with the DVD is a CD containing a wide range of printable sheets, resources, questions, puzzles and project topics for you to use in your class.

Ikut Mudik! A Journey to Yogyakarta $89.95

Ikut Mudik! Is the fourth in the series of documentaries capturing the real-life stories of people through Indonesia. In a warm and fun manner, this story reveals aspects of Indonesia's multi-religious society, and in particular the relationship between Muslim and Christian communities. Follow the experiences of Pak Sam and his family (who are Christian) as they take the journey from Jakarta to Yogyakarta to celebrate the end of Ramadan with their Muslim relatives. All narration is in Indonesian.

Along with the DVD, there is also a CD with printable worksheets, Ikut Mudik! Can provide a valuable resource for all levels of Secondary Indonesian studies. The DVD contains 3 options for using subtitles. It is recommended to show the English-Subtitled version first to follow up show it again with Indonesian subtitles. A third version without subtitles is for more advanced students. Combined with the CD of printable worksheets, Ikut Mudik! Can provide a valuable resource for all levels of Secondary Indonesian studies.

Fenty's Day A story from Halmahera $59.95

Fenty's Day is a short documentary, following a day in the life of a young girl living in a Halmahera, North Maluku, and Indonesia. Follow Fenty to school, to the market and around her home to learn about her life in this remote part of Indonesia. Fenty narrates each activity in short, simple Indonesian sentences.

This DVD contains 3 options for using subtitles. It is recommended to show the English-subtitled version first, then as a follow-up show it again with Indonesian subtitles, pausing each scene to see if the students can guess what Fenty is saying. Students will amaze themselves with what they 'know'! A third version is provided without subtitles for more advanced students

Desaku Bagus! A Story from Sulawesi $69.95

Desaku Bagus! Is a short documentary about Nadariska and her brother Riza, who live in Kalumpang, Sulawesi, Indonesia. Follow the children to school ride up the river on a motorized canoe and go on many adventures around this remote part of rural Indonesia. Nadariska and her Rizal narrate each activity in short, simple Indonesian sentences.

This DVD contains 3 options for using subtitles. It is recommended to show the English-subtitled version first, then as a follow-up show it again with Indonesian subtitles, where you can pause each scene to see if the students can guess what Fenty is saying. Students will amaze themselves with what they 'know'! A third version is provided without subtitles for more advanced students

Kotaku Hebat! An adventure in Jakarta $79.95

Kotaku Hebat is an exciting new documentary about Indonesia's capital city, Jakarta. Follow Iwan and Fena as they spend a day travelling around this city of contrasts. Visit Taman Mini and MONAS, and ride Jakarta's new Busway. Stop and enjoy the variety of roadside cuisine and maybe even grab a bargain and the market. Iwan and Fena narrate each activity in short, simple Indonesian sentences. Out-takes are also included.

This DVD contains 3 options for using subtitles. It is recommended to show the English-subtitled version first, then as a follow-up show it again with Indonesian subtitles, pausing each scene to see if the students can guess what Fena is saying. Students will amaze themselves with what they 'know'! A third version is provided without subtitles for more advanced students.

We spent 3 weeks touring the Manado area, including 12 days aboard the luxury dive boat "Ocean Rover" making 40 dives from Manado, north to Sangihe Island. Included in our travel was Lembeh Strait, Biaro Island, Ruang and Tagulandang Islands, Siau Island and Para Island, Mehengetang Island (an underwater volcano), Kahakitang Island, Bangka Island, Pulisan (Mainland), Bunaken National Marine Park, Minahasa area and Poopo. What a paradise.

Indonesia a Reporters Journey

$29.95

East Timor, the Tsunami, The Bali bombing, refugees, the Bali Nine and other recent high profile legal issues ... It seems Australians have heard more about Indonesia in the past few years than ever before. But our relationship with our vastly populated northern neighbour has always been dramatic, from the earliest trading connections, the shared battles of WWII, Cold War conflicts, the prosperity and corruption of the Suharto dictatorship to our respective national interests concerning East Timor. Renowned journalist and broadcaster Mike Carlton was a foreign correspondent for the ABC in Indonesia during the late 1960s. Having maintained a keen interest in unfolding events there since, INDONESIA: A Reporter's journey follows Mike as he returns north to explore Australia's historical relationship through a contemporary prism. Engaging, heartfelt and accessible, Mike meets with former colleagues, old friends, politicians, officials and ordinary citizens who have a direct and emotional connection to the key events that have shaped this relationship. What he finds is surprising, yet hopeful, abundance of goodwill and good humour resonating from behind the fear and misunderstanding that has defined our understanding of each other for far too long.

Di Serambi: On the Verandah $33.95

Di Serambi: On the Verandah brings together the work of twelve contemporary Indonesian poets. Over forty poems are presented in both Indonesian and English, together with notes on linguistic and cultural references, and a brief biography of each contributor. The poems have been selected to offer a range of chronological, thematic, and stylistic perspectives on Indonesian poetry. Iem Brown and Joan Davis travelled to Indonesia to interview the writers, providing the reader with a social context for the poetry. In their translations, they have kept faith with the oral tradition of Indonesian poetry, maintaining the rhythm and flow of the works, rather than presenting a purely literal interpretation. As a bilingual collection, this book serves those with general interest in Asian Studies as well as language students. Di Serambi: On the Verandah will prove invaluable to students and teachers of Indonesian language and culture.
